Shalom uvrakha, I hope you had a good Pessah, and I wish you all the best during these closing weeks of the academic year.

We have a special offer for members of the University Network, thanks to the generosity of a supporter of our Institute. I've just come out with a new book of short stories, "The Crown of Solomon and Other Stories." If you'd like a free copy of the book, please email me at mdangel@jewishideas.org and give me your mailing address.

As an added bonus, you may also receive a free copy of a novel I wrote a few years back, "The Search Committee." Please let me know if you'd like either or both of these books.

If you are interested in serving as a Campus Fellow for the coming academic year, please go to our website jewishideas.org On the bottom right of the homepage, there is information about the Campus Fellows program as well as an application form. This is a great opportunity to demonstrate leadership, to advance an intelligent Orthodox Judaism, and to help shape the future of the Jewish community.

All good wishes.
