Ears that Can Hear: Israel Education for the 21st Century

View PDF

For the past three years, Yigal Ariha has served as the Israeli shaliah and Tanakh teacher at the Beth Tfiloh Dahan Community High School in Baltimore, MD. Laura Shaw Frank, a doctoral student in Modern Jewish History at the University of Maryland, College Park, is a Jewish History and Judaic Studies teacher at Beth Tfiloh. Additionally, both Yigal and Laura serve as Israel Program Advisors at the school, advising students about gap-year programs. This article appears in issue 10 of Conversations, the journal of the Institute for Jewish Ideas and Ideals.